ITEMS AT THE COURTS.

A fine of $320 was imposed on a native, at the Magistrate's Court, for being in possession of opium; while another native was also fined $130 for a like offence.

A case of indecent assault came before Mr. J. H. Kemp, at the Magistrate's Court, when a Chinaman was charged with assaulting a European girl aged 34 years. The case was remanded, bail being allowed in the sum of $1,500.

A native was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour by Mr. J. H. Kemp, at the Magistrate's Court, for stealing flooring boards belonging to Mr. Pepper. A boy was also sentenced to be detained for 48 hours and given 12 strokes of the birch for stealing a fish. Two Chinese were sentenced to six weeks' hard labour each and three hours' stocks for stealing from a sleeping man.

FATALITY AT THE RAILWAY.

Before Mr. J. H. Kemp, at the Magistrate's Court, an inquiry was held touching the death of a coolie who was found dead near the railway at Kowloon.

The following were sworn in as jurymen:—Messrs M. V. Leon, C. F. Carvalho and J. H. Moller.

Dr. Pearce, assistant Medical Officer of Health, testified to conducting a post mortem when he found a wound on the head and there were various internal injuries. He believed that deceased died as the result of a shock but he did not consider it was sufficient in itself to account for death, but from the condition of the heart, lungs and congested state of the blood he considered that death was due to asphyxia.

Evidence was called and a verdict was returned, in accordance with the medical evidence, the jury adding that they were of the opinion that it was accidental.

SMOKING CONCERT AT THE CLUB LUSITANO.

A smoking concert, promoted by Mr. A. E. da Silva, was held at the Club Lusitano on Saturday evening and was a great success in every way. There was a very large attendance, amongst those present being Mr. J. J. Leiria, Consul General for Portugal and Brazil, and the officers of the two Portuguese gunboats at present in harbour. Everybody thoroughly enjoyed themselves and the gathering was one of the pleasantest that has ever been held at the Club Lusitano. Every credit is due to Mr. A. E. Silva for the admirable way in which everything was carried out. The items were contributed by the Orchestra of the Sociedade Philharmonica, Messrs F. Gonzalez, J. C. de Rozario, F. de Silva, F. Leiria, A. Baptista, S. Pina, F. X. Botelho, F. M. Jesus, P. Macatara, and were greatly appreciated.

THE FATSHAN AFFAIR.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CANTON, June 19.
Victory Chang is greatly in earnest in his attempts to bring the Self-Governing Society down to heel. He has just issued, at the suggestion of Mr. H. H. Fox, H.B.M.'s Consul General, a Proclamation wherein he extols the British arm of Butterfield and Swire for the uniform courtesy and attention they display towards all passengers by their river steamboats, and deploring the fact that the Fatshan has been made the occasion for raising trouble between the shipping company and their Chinese patrons. The Portuguese further points out that even if the Portuguese ticket collector was guilty of any wrong-doing in the matter, the British Consul could not punish him, as he was subject of Portugal. Notwithstanding the issue of this Proclamation, the Self-Governing Society managed to hold a meeting on the 17th instant at which a determined effort was made to revive the dying embers of the Fatshan affair. A good deal of muck indignation was worked up at this meeting, but I rather think, from conversation with many Chinese friends, that the Society is losing its influence and is certainly not the powerful organization it was immediately following the Taku Maru incident. Here in Canton we are all wondering what will be the next step which the Victory will take, for we surely can not sit quietly and see the Fatshan affair so openly fomented. For all we know we may be in for some exciting times.

FIFTY YEARS ON IT.

The following good stories are taken from Sir J. H. A. Macdonald's new book, entitled "Fifty Years On It," which deals with his experiences as a Volunteer.

Once in a friendly gathering some of us belonging to different corps were discussing leading our own and belittling our sister battalions, when one of the company—I shall not name his regiment—set us all in roars by proclaiming, "Well, you may say what you like about your P.R.V.'s &c., but there's one thing, ours is the best battalion in the Force at present, and as from the stand at ease." It is needless to say that his colonel was not present when this eulogium was passed.

VETERAN RECRUITS.

In those early days the drill sergeant had some queer "casses" to handle.

Many who enrolled themselves could hardly be looked upon as physically fit for campaigning work. Many were comparatively old men, and some of mature years were the despair of the drill sergeant, who saw the heads of all were in perfect line saw at intervals many ugly bulges at the level of the waist-belt, protruding their curves of corpulence obscuring and spoiling the dressing. One was reminded sometimes of the nicknames given to a particular divo company of the Volunteers in the time of the Napoleonic wars at the beginning of last century, who were dubbed by the malicious joker the "Belly-gerents."

Our testal captain was an enthusiast against alcohol and tobacco, and no man could be enlisted into his company who did not vow to abstain from both.

We all declared that when he went down the ranks he paid little attention to dress or accoutrements, but carefully sniffed for any whiff he could trace of the bottle or the pipe. On one occasion he challenged a man who had recently joined, and said to him, "John, you've been drinking." The man replied earnestly, "No, maister. I gie ye ma word I have not tasted a drop since I joined the company." "But you've been smoking, John." "Udd, Maister

H—," replied the man, "ye wud make an uncommon fine pinter bith"—a delicate compliment to the astuteness of the female nose.

Whether or no.

Speaking of Captain H— reminds me that he always, in advertising his drills, put D.V. in large capitals before the announcements of dates, which we had to accept as an indication that nobody else was submissive to divine providence in making their arrangements. I do not suppose that the apostle meant more than that such was the spirit in which we should be in all daily duties and actions. But a captain in the north went one better than our testal friend. His advertisement ran:—The company will parade on Wednesday at 8,

D.V. and W.P. (weather permitting), but on Saturday at 9, whether or no.

There was a sergeant-major who when a Volunteer barrister on the squad, being ordered to step off with the left foot foremost, tried to cross-examine him, and asked out of the ranks. "Why the left foot?"

promptly replied, "Because it's His Majeaty's orders, and be— to ye!"

WHY THE DRUMMER "STRUCK."

The Review in the King's Park of 1890 was productive of a host of anecdotes and incidents.

At the close of the Review, an amusing incident occurred illustrative of the well-known fact that the band of a corps is most likely to be shady, and that the big drum is the part of the band in which there is the highest development of self-conceit.

The music at the march past was played by massed bands of regular regiments, probably because it was well known that at that early stage of Volunteer training many of the bands were of the scraped-together sort.

The regimental bands were made to follow silently behind their regiments, except when the time came for marching off to private parades. The battalion next to our instrumentalists had their mouthpieces at their lips, the preliminary bangs on the drum were not heard, and the drummer was seen carrying his drum with the aid of the triangle boy. "Why don't you strike up with that drum?" shouted the Colonel in furious tones. The drummer calmly looked over his shoulder and said, "I can no gods enough to play ye, pax Har

Majorjeto, ye'll no get me playin' ye at the ground.

A STORY ABOUT AN "BOX."

Sir Robert Cranston is the hero of another amusing incident.

Colonel Davidson was strongly opposed to the Volunteer movement having any social side, and sternly refused to have to do with any entertainments. This also kept us out of extravagance, although looking back I think he carried his Spartan view of the Volunteer career rather too far.

On one occasion a most ludicrous incident occurred. One of my junior subalterns—

the Cranston, who is known to everybody

now, having risen to be Colonel-Commandant and, afterwards Brigadier—came to me privately, and asked in his own peculiar way if the officers might have ball. I kept my countenance, and said, "Yes." "You must ask that question of Colonel Davidson," he said, "I have asked him, and he says that it is all right, but he says that I must ask him to sign a paper, and he says that he will sign it, but he says that I must ask him to sign it, and he says that

28-2229-2230-2231-2232-2233-2234-2235-2236-2237-2238-2239-2240-2241-2242-2243-2

THE DIXON CASE.

TODAY'S HEARING.

At the Supreme Court to-day, before the Chief Justice (Sir F. Pigott) and Mr. Justice Gompertz, the action was resumed in which Mr. C. R. Dixon, solicitor, of Messrs Hastings and Hastings, is called upon to show cause why he should not be struck off the Roll.

Mr. E. Potter (instructed by Mr. C. D. Wilkinson) was for the applicant, Mr. John Hastings; while Mr. H. G. Calhoun (instructed by Mr. Harston) was for defendant.

Charles Kent, cashier, employed by Messrs Hastings and Hastings, explained the system of account keeping in the office. They kept two accounts, one the costs account and the other the clients' accounts. All monies received for the costs of the office went to the costs account, and all monies received on behalf of clients went to the clients' accounts. These accounts were kept at separate banks, and money was sometimes transferred from the clients' account to the costs account. There was a ledger kept for the clients' account, but none for the costs account. The monies paid by clients direct to the costs account would not appear in the ledger. When money was first received it was all put into the rough cash book, in which it was always stated to what account the money was to go to.

Mr. Potter—Do you remember when Wong asked for the interim account?—About the 1st of December last year.

Were you told to give him an account?—Yes.

What did he tell you?—He asked me to make a copy of the ledger.

Is that a document produced?—A copy of the ledger account you made?—This is a copy.

The items paid in by the clients to the costs account do not appear in this first account?—No.

Can you tell me what items paid for costs by the Kwong Hing Cheung firm do not appear in the interim account?—The sum of $25 paid on 19th March, 1907, and $300 paid on 29th April the same year. The third one for $400 paid on 6th of June. The next one is $500, paid 27th January, 1908.

The Chief Justice—How do you know this?—On what is your answer based?—By comparing the two accounts.

Witness—The next one which appears in the complete account is $1,500 paid on April 21st.

How much of this does not appear?—$500.

Mr. Potter—What is the next amount?—$300 paid on the 5th of May.

How much of those items come to?—$2,075.

Therefore, that first account would be $2,075 short?—Yes.

Do you remember the date on which that second account was given?—About the middle of April this year.

Who made out that account?—Mr. Dixon, with my assistance.

Was that the complete account?—Yes.

Does that account include all payments made by clients whether they went to costs account or clients account?—Yes.

Does it also include the account charged by the firm for costs?—Yes.

Will you point out the two items?—The first item for costs was $2,139.60.

And the second?—$3,017.65.

Who made out the costs included in those items?—Mr. Dixon.

Can you tell me how much was transferred from the clients' account to the costs account for costs?—$4,114.60.

Witness said he had handed the account to Wong Hui Tong.

Who made out that account?—On April 1st did you see Wong again?—Yes.

Was he paid any money?—Yes; I paid him a cheque for $10,000.

Was Mr. Dixon present when this cheque was paid?—Yes.

Did Mr. Wong ask for anything?—Yes; he asked for a reduction of the costs.

Did he ask for anything else?—He asked for a detailed account of the costs.

Did he get it?—Yes.

How long did it take to make that detailed account out?—About three or four weeks.

When did you see Mr. Wong again?—A few days after he got the account.

What happened then?—I took him into Mr. Hastings' room.

Was Mr. Dixon present?—He was not present.

Who you look at the rough cash book for January 27th?—Did Mr. Dixon pay you anything as costs?—From Mr. Gulab on that date?—He paid me $30.

Will you just read the entry in the rough cash book?—27th of January; Janadur Gulab, costs $30.

Whose handwriting is that in?—Mr. Dixon's.

Did you see Gulab yourself on that day?—No; I didn't.

Do you know if any receipt was given for the $30?—No receipt was given.

On the 3rd of March, 1908, is there another entry in reference to Gulab?—Yes.

$30?—$50.

Now go back to January 8th, 1908, you find an entry, "W. H. $30, on account of Police Court costs?—Yes.

Did you receive that money?—Mr. Dixon received the money and handed it to me.

Did you give a receipt?—No.

Did you ever receive any more money in reference to this case?—No.

Is there any entry on 13th or 14th of January of any money received from Wong Hui?—No, I do not find any entry.

Can you tell me what is the monthly average amount in salary and commission received by Mr. Dixon between 1st January, 1908, and March 31st?—An average of $420 per month.

Did Mr. Dixon pay you on the 22nd of July, 1908, a sum of $500 in the Kwong Hing Cheung v. Rutter Brockmann case?—No.

Cross-examined by Mr. Calhoun: Will you look up the cash book for 29th of last June?—What was paid on that day for costs in the Rutter Brockmann case?—$2,500.

In whose handwriting is that?—My own handwriting.

Who handed you the money?—I can't remember; it might be Wong Hui Tong himself, or Mr. Dixon.

Do you not know that the money was paid two days previously to Mr. George Hastings?—I can't remember that.

After bank hours?—I can't remember.

And that Mr. George Hastings put it in his safe for the week-end?—I can't remember.

And that he handed it to you on the Monday morning?—I can't remember.

You were there?—He did not hand it to you?—No.

What is the interim account given to Wong Hui Tong in English and Chinese?—No, in English only.

On the 15th of April when the final account was given was not that in Chinese as well?—No; in English.

What happened when the account was handed to Mr. Wong?—Nothing particular happened.

Did he look at the account before the asking?—Yes.

Did he point out any item for which he was asking for details?—Yes, for costs.

The one for $6,000 and the one for $300?—Yes.

Witness further stated that the account was explained by the interpreter, and there was also a translation in Chinese of the account.

You told me just now the final account was in English only. Why do you say now there was one in Chinese as well?—The Chinese was not made by me.

Did anything more happen at the interview?—I gave him a cheque for $10,000.

This is all?—He signed the receipt.

When did you next see Mr. Wong?—A few weeks later.

Who were present?—Tam (the interpreter) and myself. At first he came to my room, and only Tam and I were present.

Then you went into Mr. Hastings' room?—Yes.

Did you have any conversation with him before you went into Mr. Hastings' room?—He asked me to go into Mr. Hastings' room to see about the costs.

What happened in Mr. Hastings' room?—He said he had compared the two accounts, and they were not correct.

Which two accounts do you mean?—The final account and the detailed account of costs.

What else did he say?—He said a sum of $500 had not been credited to him for costs.

What else did he say?—That's all he said.

Was anything else said at that interview?—What else took place?—Then Mr. Hastings spoke to him and asked him to point out what he meant.

What happened next?—He said he had gone back to Canton some time ago and compared the account with his own Chinese account book.

What happened next?—And the $500 was not in your account.

What happened next?—Then Mr. Hastings asked him if he got a receipt for it.

What did he say?—He said "No."

What happened then?—Mr. Hastings said "What date was it paid?"

What then?—He told him the date, some time in July.

Did he tell Mr. Hastings the exact date?—He did not then; he said he was going to find out.

What happened then?—He said several times $500 was paid, and he could not tell which $500 it was.

What happened next?—Mr. Hastings asked him to show him his Chinese account book.

What then?—He said he was going back to Canton to get the Chinese account book.

What happened then?—Nothing.

Are you quite sure that is all?—Quite sure.

Did you make a declaration in this matter?—Yes.

On the 27th of May?—Yes.

And you told all you knew in that affidavit?—Yes.

Do you know Janadur Gulab?—I know his face.

When did you first see him?—Some time in February this year.

What did you see him about?—He called at the office and wanted to see Mr. Dixon.

What did he say to you?—He just asked me if Mr. Dixon was in, or something like that.

What happened after he asked you that?—He went in to see Mr. Dixon.

Did you see him after he came out?—No; I did not.

Was this the occasion on which he paid $30?—No; after that.

You've said it's part of your duty to make out and give receipts?—Yes.

On the 27th of January when $30 was paid, why did you not make out a receipt?—I asked Mr. Dixon if the man wanted a receipt and he said "No."

Why didn't you put that in your affidavit?—I have mentioned the 27th of January?—I said no receipt was given.

Chief Justice—Does anyone else make out receipts?—Sometimes the solicitors do.

I put it to you that if a receipt is given the counterfoils ought to tally with the cash book?—Yes.

Mr. Calhoun—I put it to you, in Police Court cases it is not customary to give a receipt unless the client asks for one?—No, that is not so.

On the 3rd of March you received $50 from Gulab; who handed it to you?—I don't quite remember.

Did you give a receipt for that?—I did make out a receipt.

Did you hand it to Gulab?—No; he did not call for it.

Why didn't you make out one in the first case?—I asked Mr. Dixon and he said it did not matter.

Why didn't you put those facts about the receipts in your affidavit?—Did you tell Mr. Hastings all this?—No; I did not.

Why?—He did not ask me.

Didn't you think it important to tell him everything?—No.

Did you know the man Wong Hui?—I don't know him personally.

When did you first see him?—Sometime in January.

Did you speak to him on the first occasion he came to the office?—No.

Did you on the second occasion?—Yes.

What was that?—The same day or the day after.

What did you speak to him about?—I asked him to pay the balance of costs.

What did he say?—He said he had already paid.

Now make a declaration about this, did you not?—I made an affidavit.

How do you account for your putting in the affidavit that it was on the 13th or 14th of January, six days after, the first time you saw him and now you say it was the same day or the day after?—I can't remember.

Who was present besides Wong Hui when he said he had paid the $20?—Tam was present.

Witness was handed the rough cash book and asked if he could find the counterfoils of an entry for $3 contained therein. He replied that he could not.

Why didn't you give a receipt for that?—Sometimes no receipt is given for small amounts of costs of letters.

Witness's attention was drawn to another item of $20.40 for costs, and he was asked if he could find a receipt for this. He replied in the negative.

Why was no receipt given?—Can't remember.

Is it not the practice, then, not to give receipts for small amounts unless asked for?—My instructions were to give a receipt in every case.

Do you give a receipt?—My instructions were to do so.

Mr. Justice Gompertz—You do so unless you are told not to?—Yes.

Mr. Calhoun—Do you say you were told not to in this case of $20.40?—I can't remember.

Asked in reference to another item of $10 if he were specially told not to give a receipt, witness said:—It must be so; otherwise I should have made out one.

Will you look at the entry of the 6th of July, an entry of $37 costs of transfer?—Yes.

In whose handwriting is it?—Mine.

Another item of $50, partly in Mr. John Hastings' handwriting and partly in Mr. Dixon's, was pointed out, but witness could not discover the counterfoils of a receipt.

Was that from Mr. Allan?—Yes.

And he was a bankrupt at that time?—I can't remember.

How do you know that Mr. Dixon's average salary and commission was $420 a month?—By looking at the cash book.

Do you know what the managing clerks receive by consulting the same cash book?—Yes.

Do you know what Mr. George Hastings was receiving before the partnership?—Mr. Potter—I object: this is most unfair.

The Chief Justice—We are not going to have the amount.

Mr. Calhoun—My lord, your lordship can see why this amount of $420 is put in. It is put in to show that Mr. Dixon cannot keep up a house on that amount.

The Chief Justice—But you are not going to prove that somebody else can't keep another house on another amount. That would be unfair.

Mr. Calhoun—Very well, then, my Lord, Tam Wing Kwong, interpreter, employed by Messrs Hastings and Hastings, spoke to Van Hi coming to the office at the beginning of last year. Witness interpreted the conversation which passed between Van Hi and Mr. Dixon.

Was there anything said about costs?—Yes.

What?—Van Hi wanted to know what the costs would be, but Mr. Dixon said he could not say as the case might go on a long time, or might finish in a minute.

Was any amount finally agreed upon?—Yes; Mr. Dixon said it was to be $50 for one day and $25 for each subsequent day.

What happened?—Van Hi said he had $30 in his pocket. Then Mr. Dixon said he would pay that on account, and he was to bring the balance before the case was heard.

Anything else happened?—Mr. Van Hi paid $30 to Mr. Dixon.

What then?—Mr. Dixon sent for Mr. Kent and the amount was entered in the rough cash book.

Do you know of your own knowledge whether or not Mr. Dixon went to the Magistracy about this case?—Yes.

How many times?—Twice.

Did Mr. Dixon make any statement to you about it after the second time?—Yes.

He told me the police had withdrawn the case.

On the afternoon of that day, did anything happen?—Van Hi came into Mr. Dixon's room, when I was there.

Well, what happened?—I told Mr. Van Hi that his friend was liberated.

By the way, did he come of his own accord?—Yes.

Did he say why he had come?—Yes.

He said he was come to pay the balance of costs.

Did he then pay some more costs?—Yes, sir.

How did he pay it?—Direct to Mr. Dixon, or through you?—He handed two $10 notes to me and I handed them to Mr. Dixon.

What happened then?—Mr. Dixon put the money in the drawer on the right hand side of his desk.

Was any receipt given for the $30 or $20 as far as you are aware?—No; no receipt was given.

Cross-examined by Mr. Calhoun:—As this case was not heard at all I put it to you that was not heard at all, it was the balance of costs?—When it was arranged, the balance of costs must be paid even if there is nothing done.

Is that always the case?—No, because Mr. Dixon has the power to—

Then it is not always done?—In this case the client came to pay the balance. It was not that we insisted upon the balance being paid.

Is it not the invariable practice of Mr. Dixon when he puts an entry in the book about costs agreed upon he puts so much on account of agreed costs?—Occasionally.

When you saw Mr. Dixon put the money into the drawer what did you think?—I thought he was going to pay it to the cashier when he came back.

Did you think of reminding him about it?—No, because he was off to work.

Do you swear this often took place?—I have known it several times.

How many times?—It is impossible to remember a thing like that.

Witness said:—I don't know him personally.

When did you first see him?—Sometime in January.

Did you speak to him on the first occasion he came to the office?—No.

Did you on the second occasion?—Yes.

What was that?—The same day or the day after.

What did you speak to him about?—I asked him to pay the balance of costs.

What did he say?—He said he had already paid.

Now make a declaration about this, did you not?—I made an affidavit.

How do you account for your putting in the affidavit that it was on the 13th or 14th of January, six days after, the first time you saw him and now you say it was the same day or the day after?—I can't remember.

Who was present besides Wong Hui when he said he had paid the $20?—Tam was present.

Witness was handed the rough cash book and asked if he could find the counterfoils of an entry for $3 contained therein. He replied that he could not.

Why didn't you give a receipt for that?—Sometimes no receipt is given for small amounts of costs of letters.

Witness's attention was drawn to another item of $20.40 for costs, and he was asked if he could find a receipt for this. He replied in the negative.

Why was no receipt given?—Can't remember.

Is it not the practice, then, not to give receipts for small amounts unless asked for?—My instructions were to give a receipt in every case.

Do you give a receipt?—My instructions were to do so.

Mr. Justice Gompertz—You do so unless you are told not to?—Yes.

Mr. Calhoun—Do you say you were told not to in this case of $20.40?—I can't remember.

Asked in reference to another item of $10 if he were specially told not to give a receipt, witness said:—It must be so; otherwise I should have made out one.

FREEING SYNDICATE.

Mr Carl Meyer presided over another big meeting of the Peking Syndicate at the end of May. Dissenting the accounts for the year he pointed out that the profit and loss account covered the long period from the date of the syndicate's incorporation to June 30 last, and in amplifying the note in the report which set forth the fact that since the rejection of the unification scheme the Board had found it impracticable to formulate separate profit and loss accounts for the Shansi shares, the Defeated shares, and the Ordinary shares, he took the opportunity of defining the attitude of the directors towards unification. The proposals for that course of action had not, he reminded the meeting, emanated from themselves, but from certain influential shareholders. They had, however, been put forward by the Board, which was in sympathy with any plan that should meet with the support of all classes of shareholders, being of the firm opinion that the best interests of the syndicate would be served by unification. It would be a tedious and costly course to legally decide the exact proportions in which the profits should be divided, and he could only urge upon the meeting the advisability of refraining from demanding a distribution in the current year, and of pressing forward some scheme of unification. They would remember that only one point blocked the scheme that had been rejected—namely, the limitation of the syndicate's sphere of action. The Board hoped to obviate that difficulty, and proposed to ask the committee to meet again shortly. On the general position of the syndicate the chairman said that a supply of coal had been assured, and it remained to secure a demand for their output. In February it had seemed as though that could be satisfactorily arranged, but since then difficulties had arisen with local mine-owners. The Governor of the province had supported the latter, but the Board did not attach much importance to the opposition, and looked for an early settlement. Objection to the form of the accounts was raised, but ultimately the report and accounts were passed by 42 votes to 9.
